

Translations and interpreting for the Allied Museum since 1998

AT A GLANCE

Branch

- Culture

Challenges

- Translations of exhibition texts, publications, texts for museum and illustrated books, conceptions, contracts, conference documents
- Interpreting at regular meetings of the Academic Advisory Board

Scope

- Languages: English, French
- 35,000 lines

BACKGROUND

We have been working with the Allied Museum in Berlin for many years. Since 1998, Schneiders-Sprach-Service has supported the museum primarily with translations and interpreting services in English and French.

INTERPRETATION

For the regular meetings of the Academic Advisory Board, we put together a highly qualified team of simultaneous interpreters for English and French. Over the years, a relationship of trust has developed so that our interpreters are also gladly requested by name. A wide range of documents and reports are prepared for the Advisory Board meetings and translated by us into English and French.

TRANSLATION

In addition, Schneiders-Sprach-Service has supported extensive projects of the Allied Museum with translations, e.g. as part of the "Liberation Route Europe", which is a route of remembrance to historical sites along which the Allied Forces came from the south of England to Berlin from 1944 onwards.

Furthermore, we have taken on translations for various exhibitions, texts for museum and illustrated books, concepts, contracts, publications and provided interpreters for exhibition openings.

Schneiders - Sprach - Service

Your Trusted Language Partner Since 1990