

Translations in the field of IT systems engineering, IT security and data protection since 2015

Procado | Consulting, IT and Media Service GmbH

Data protection and information security play an increasingly important role in our information age. Procado supports its clients in developing strategies and implementing information security management systems.

We put together custom-fit packages for the respective needs of our clients. This includes data protection information, non-disclosure agreements and contracts of various kinds, which we also offer in two languages at the request of our clients.

Schneiders-Sprach-Service has been supporting us with high-quality translations, especially into English, since 2015. We respond promptly to our enquiries by telephone or e-mail with a detailed quotation. The implementation and delivery of the translations are always carried out as agreed, on time and in perfect quality. Even in the case of bottlenecks or urgent requests, Mrs Schneider and her team look for a way to be helpful.

What we value about Schneiders-Sprach-Service is reliability, competence, punctuality, discretion and a trusting and friendly working relationship.
